About Town And Country

Thos. D. Gregg to Retire After Years As Optometrist

BACK AROUND THE TURN of the century in Harrisburg, getting your eyes fixed up with spectacles was not the simple matter it is today.

Sometimes an itinerant glass fitter came through town and picked up business. But most of the time, the person needing attention made his way to the city, where he got the job done.

Thomas D. Gregg was a young and budding druggist in those days. Son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Gregg and born in a house where the Frank P. Parker residence now is situated, he had attended Centre college in Kentucky for a couple of years, then entered Northwest-ern university where he completed his course in pharmacy.

Back then, professional training was not as lengthy like it is today. His complete course consisted of one ten-month term.

Back to Harrisburg he came and bought a drug store along with his cousin, Hugh Gregg, starting up business in 1899.

It was there that he saw a crying need in the community—some one who could fit glasses. It was the need of such a person here rather than a desire to be an optometrist—because he had his drug business—that was responsible for his going to Chicago and taking the course offered by the Northern Illinois College of Optometry, a school that still is in existence. The course, which is four years now, was only a few months at that time.

So back to Harrisburg he came in 1901, the town's only glasses fitter. His position he held for many years. He, of course, devoted most of his time to the drug store, which has remained at the same location for years and is now known as Barger's drug store. Mr. Barger became a partner several years after the store was begun and today is the owner of the business. Mr. Gregg sold out his interest in 1942 and since then has had his office upstairs. The building is known as the Gregg building.

At the end of 1955 Mr. Gregg is retiring as an optometrist. He will keep his office from which he will take care of other interests, but he will leave all fitting of glasses to others.

He said that throughout the years he has not devoted full time to a profession that he has seen show great progress, but added that "I believed I did serve a purpose back in the early years after I had started."

One honor that came to Mr. Gregg was that in 1919-20 he was a member of the first Illinois State Board of Optometry Examiners. This was set up after state legislation was passed setting up standards for the profession.

First, he said, the group granted licenses to those who were already practicing, "because you cannot legislate business out of existence," but that rigid standards were set up for those seeking a license after that.

Delays Work Of Searching For Victims

Fear 100 Lives Lost; Armed Guards Patrol Streets

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—A new crest sent the Feather river pouring today through a 600-foot gap in the levee along Yuba City, flooding the deserted town for the second time in less than a week.

The muddy waters began rising at the rate of 3 inches an hour during the night. Finally they overflowed the gap at Guntree, broken during last Saturday's flood when 10,000 persons fled for their lives.

The waters filled half of the stricken town before they began to recede. In the southeast section, they rose to nearly 3 feet. Flood officials expected them to go no higher.

Actually, there was little further harm the flood waters could do. Where they were deepest was already an area of destruction, with some houses crumbled into pieces and debris piled against trees and crooked street signs.

May Be 100 Victims

One house, for example, was perched at a crazy angle on a railroad track and another sat squarely in the middle of the street.

The worst effect of the new flooding was the delay it caused in the grim work of searching through the ruined houses and the debris for those who failed to escape last Saturday's wall of water. There may be as many as 100 victims, officials said.

It also kept the city's residents from returning to salvage what they could from the ooze that covered what once was their homes. Armed guards ordered all persons who returned to their homes out of the city Monday night when a post-Christmas rain posed the threat of the new flood.

The guards patrolled the streets Monday to prevent looting. Anyone still in the city had to show a pass.

Aid Pledged

The Yuba City situation appeared to be the most serious in the Far West, where storms and floods have taken a toll of 53 lives and caused at least 100 million dollars damage to the states of California, Oregon and Nevada.

Federal Civil Defense Administration's Val Peterson was to visit the Yuba City area today. He conferred Monday with Gov. Goodwin F. Knight after flying here from Reno, where he inspected flood damage in western Nevada.

Peterson pledged full and immediate federal aid. Already Army Engineers had a go-ahead to let contractors up to $25,000 to clean up debris.

"President Eisenhower has instructed me to see that everything possible is done to relieve flood victims," Peterson said. "The President is personally concerned about this great disaster."

Dr. J. A. Johnson Of Norris City Dies

Dr. James A. Johnson, 75, retired dentist of Norris City, died in the Veterans hospital at Marion Saturday morning. His dental practice was in St. Louis, Mo., but upon his retirement several years ago he returned to Norris City to make his home.

He is survived by one son, Lewis Johnson, who is with the U. S. Navy; one sister, Mrs. Louise Willis, Norris City, and two brothers, Otis Johnson, Norris City, and Charles Johnson, Peoria.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. at the Ebenezer Methodist church south of Norris City. Elder T. Leo Dodd of Eldorado will officiate, assisted by Rev. C. E. Hedges of Norris City, and burial will be in the church cemetery with Masonic rites.

Autos Collide

City police reported that automobiles driven by Olla Wilson and Mrs. C. J. Cummins, both of Harrisburg, figured in a collision at Church and Jackson streets Christmas Day. There were no injuries.

Two Grass Fires

Fire Chief L. G. Martin reported runs to two grass fires over the holiday. Christmas Day at 12:40 p. m. a grass fire was extinguished at 1254 South Granger street. Yesterday at 1:30 p. m. a run was made to 1120 South Hobson street.

Dionne Sisters Break Away from Home; Fail to Visit or Send Christmas Cards

CALLANDER, Ont. (U)—Olivia Dionne, father of the quintuplets, said today the four surviving quints have broken away from their home in Callander, and there was "no use" camouflaging the fact.

Dionne said the girls did not send their parents a Christmas card, or call them on the telephone, or write them about their Christmas plans. The girls spent Christmas in Montreal.

Dionne said he and Mrs. Dionne had realized for several months that the girls had been drifting away from the family. He blamed the separation on what he called "intruders," but he refused to identify the so-called "intruders."

It was the first time that the quintlets had not spent Christmas with their family.

Two of the quints, Yvonne and Cecile, were training as nurses at Notre Dame L'Esperance hospital in Montreal. Annette has been studying art at Nicolet, Que., and entered hospital for a checkup and rest early this month.

The fourth quint, Marie, withdrew from a convent in Quebec City and entered the hospital Nov. 16.

A hospital authority said last week that Marie and Annette were now in good health and had been dismissed to go home for Christmas. It was said then that Yvonne and Cecile would join the family for the New Year's weekend.

But Dionne said the girls neither returned home nor sent word they would not be home for Christmas. Dionne said the quintlets had also cut their brothers and sisters off their Christmas card mailing list this year.

"In fact," he said, "lately they have been treating their brothers and sisters almost with contempt."

He said the four remaining quintuplets had begun to drift away from the family before their 21st birthday last May 26, and after they became eligible to handle their own affairs, the rift became certain.

The girls took over a considerable fortune, the exact extent of which was never made public but believed to approach one million dollars, when they became 21. It was built up after their birth by advertising endorsements, public appearances, and other grants.

The fifth quint, Emile, died in August, 1954, and her share of the fund held in trust for the girls, went to the remaining four.

U. S. Soldier Arrested in East Berlin

BERLIN (U)—The U. S. Army announced today that an American soldier was arrested by Communist police Monday after a minor traffic accident in East Berlin. He still is missing.

The East German radio said Kliman was "very drunk" and failed to halt at a stop sign, demolishing a German car.

His wife, who accompanied him but was released, said he was sober and was driving carefully.

Authorities asked the Russians today to return Kliman. He was last seen about 10:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m. CST) Monday when East Berlin "People's Police" took him to East Berlin police headquarters.

It was the second time since the East Germans began insisting on "sovereignty" in East Berlin that an American soldier has been arrested. Earlier this month, two GIs were arrested and accused of beating a cabaret actor in the Soviet Zone of the city. They were returned to Army control by the Russians despite the East German claims that they should have been tried in East German courts.

The arrest of Kliman raised the question of whether the East Germans will exercise their "sovereignty," which the West does not recognize, by trying the soldier.

They threatened last week to try Americans after a U. S. Army court martial acquitted the two men accused of manhandling the actor.

Cantrell, Rice Deaths Among State Tragedies

Rites Yesterday for Garrett Rice; Wayne Cantrell Funeral Today

Two Harrisburg young men, Garrett Rice and Wayne Cantrell, today were included in the list of more than 600 traffic deaths that set an all-time, all-holiday record for fatalities on the highways.

The two were fatally injured when the automobile Cantrell was driving left Route 1 in a fog near Carmi at 3 a. m. Saturday. Cantrell died almost instantly. Rice at 11:30 a. m. the same day in the Carmi hospital. Cantrell's body was returned to the Turner funeral home. Rice's body to the Gaskins funeral home.

Cantrell, 34, and Rice, 24, were returning to Harrisburg for the holidays from Hammond, Ind., where both were employed by the Youngtown Steel Co. Rice had worked there about a year, Cantrell for six months.

The funeral for young Rice was held yesterday and last rites for Cantrell were held this afternoon. The Rice funeral was at 2 p. m. yesterday at Dorrisville Baptist church, of which he was a member. The service was conducted by the church pastor, the Rev. William Fuson, and the Rev. Elmer Grisham. Burial was at Ledford cemetery.

Cantrell's funeral was today at the same church, with Rev. Fuson conducting the service. Burial also was at Ledford cemetery.

Rice, who served in the Marine Corps two years, having been discharged in May, 1954, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Rice, 1201 South Hobson street. He was graduated from HTHS in 1950.

He leaves five brothers and sisters: James "Buck" Rice of Mattoon, Mary Jean Rice of Harrisburg, Clarence Rice, in the service and stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky., and Reita and Murlene Rice at home.

He was the uncle of Cantrell's four young children, Larry Wayne, Judy, Bonnie and Kenny.

Cantrell's wife had been buried six years Christmas Eve, the same day of the year her husband met his death. His four children were living with his mother, Mrs. Ethel Cantrell, and with Mr. and Mrs. Rice, father of Garrett, while he was employed at Hammond. The Rices are the parents of Cantrell's deceased wife.

46 Traffic Deaths in Illinois Over Holiday

By United Press

Illinois shared a full measure of the shame for the nation's "black Christmas" on the streets and highways.

The Illinois total of 46 holiday traffic deaths was surpassed only by Texas' 54. The Chicago area was to blame for the state's high total, adding 25 deaths between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Monday.

In addition, fires killed 3 persons in the state and miscellaneous accidents 7 for an Illinois holiday death total of 56.

Gov't Optimistic Economy Will Continue to Soar

WASHINGTON (U)—The government today appeared optimistic that America's economy would continue to soar during 1956.

The Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration released a survey of major industries for the first half of 1956, predicting production in most industries would rise.

Small Business Administrator Wendell B. Barnes predicted that next year will see further rise in earnings by small manufacturers. He said the competitive position of small business has been strengthened and "the extremely low rate of business failures is also a good sign for the future."

Sample of Report

Here is a sampling from the major industry report:

Iron and steel—Current record-breaking production momentum to continue through June, 1956, making first half of year one of the highest "if not the highest" in history.

Aluminum—First half 1956 shipments expected to be at annual rate of 4,600,000 pounds—a new record and 18 per cent above first half of this year.

Automobiles and trucks—Auto output first six months expected to hit 4,250,000 compared with the record 4,227,000 in the first half of this year. Truck production should "show a sizeable increase over the first half of 1955" after finishing "the best year in its history."

Construction—Estimated spending in 1956 on all new construction 44 billion dollars, five per cent above 1955's record 42 billion.

Strike Causes Drop
Power equipment—New electric generating units expected to go into service in first half will be "far below" previous estimates because of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike.

Electronics—Output in 1956 expected to exceed this year's record of $6,500,000,000 by 500 million dollars.

Machinery—A five to 10 per cent rise in dollar volume of farm machinery sales expected, reflecting price increases. Increase in unit sales "doubtful" during first six months.

Lumber—Output, expected to set a record this year, may drop off about two per cent during first six months of 1956.

Consumer durable goods—sales in first six months expected to "equal or slightly exceed" record 1955 rate.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Bulletin reported that despite the record growth of consumer credit this year rising incomes have kept the debt burden from becoming too heavy.

Gregory Denied Clemency Plea By Gov. Stratton

SPRINGFIELD (U)—Gov. William G. Stratton has denied applications for executive clemency by 48 inmates of state penal institutions.

The denials, dated Dec. 23, and announced today, included the appeal of Betty Jean Gruver, who asked clemency on a 1-to-2 year sentence for escape from the Women's Reformatory at Dwight. Miss Gruver is also serving a 14-year robbery-murder sentence for the 1947 slaying of Glenn Tilton, Urbana tavern owner.

Other prisoners, convicted of murder in downstate courts, whose applications were denied, included: Joseph Bernovich, Peoria County; Robert Lee, St. Clair; Maurice Meyer, Rock Island; Harry Sell, De Kalb; Lester Siefferman, Henry; Dan L. Swinford, Henderson; Orville V. Bundy, Shelby; James T. Gash, Richland; Charles Gregory, Saline; Howard Johnson, Will; Arthur Williams, Pulaski; and Georgia Irene Bookless, Iroquois.

Ohio's Youngstown steel district has added 60 companies working aluminum into consumer goods in recent years. Youngstown's basic steel industry still employs 55,600 workers. Its steel fabricating mills have 25,000 more, compared to 5,000 to 6,000 for aluminum fabricating plants.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON
DREW PEARSON Says: Disease Doesn't Exist In Santa Claus Land, It's Too Cold; Danes And Canadians Give U. S. Fine Co-Operation; Air Force Entertains And Educates During Arctic Nights.

WASHINGTON. — Col. "Rip" Rohr, the commander of some 6,000 men and three women at this base, is something of an Arctic enthusiast. He claims he likes the weather.

"We have no disease," he points out. "It's too cold. The cold kills all germs, so we have no mumps, measles or any of the other diseases that trouble you people back home."

"Of course," he added, "we'll probably have some after you leave. You've undoubtably brought some germs with you. But our hospital is only about half full and most of the patients are suffering from sprained ankles, broken legs or other accidents."

Colonel Rohr went on to explain that the colony of Eskimos which had lived at Thule before the Air Force took over had to be transplanted about a hundred miles away so they wouldn't come into contact with the diseases of modern civilization. No American personnel are allowed to go near them.

"They've built up no immunity against our type of diseases," the colonel explained, "and a slight case of the mumps or measles might kill them."

SCARCE ESKIMOS
American personnel are also prohibited from hunting seals, Arctic foxes and polar bears. They are getting scarce and are reserved only for the Greenlanders, the name applied to people of mixed Eskimo and other blood.

The full-blooded Eskimos are getting scarce, too, incidentally, with only about a hundred living on the northern tip of Greenland. The total population of Greenland is only about 25,000, chiefly Danes and Greenlanders. Yet Greenland is three times as big as Texas. American personnel on Greenland, most of which is in the south, now totals almost half of the native population.

Relations between Denmark and the United States have been so friendly that many people forget Greenland is Danish, and that our troops are present only at the courtesy and invitation of the Danish government, as part of Denmark's contribution to NATO.

The Danish liaison officer at Thule, Comdr. Orla Jensen, is consulted on all major matters by the American commander, and it's a tribute to American-Danish co-operation that they work as a perfect team. Commander Jensen, with whom I visited at dinner, went out of his way to tell me how much he enjoyed working with his American colleagues.

Likewise in Labrador and Newfoundland, American troops are present only at the invitation and courtesy of the Canadian government. At Goose Bay, Col. James Knapp, of the U. S. Air Force, commands twice as many men as the Canadian commander, but takes orders from the Canadian.

"We get along fine," Colonel Knapp said. "The Canadians are wonderful people. Our officers and enlisted men go to their theatres and parties and they come to ours. There are some Canadians in the audience here tonight."

LONG ARCTIC NIGHTS
Recreation is a problem at all these northern bases, but especially so at Thule where the Arctic nights are longer, where no wives or children are present, and a man gets no leave for 12 months.

When I asked Colonel Rohr how he kept his men happy at Thule he replied:

"By keeping busy. Much of our time is spent working to stay alive."

In addition, I found that he gives a television report to the entire base every Wednesday evening, also permits any man on the base to come to see him privately on Thursdays to discuss any complaint or personal problem.

Every night the Thule TV station carries the top television shows, sent from the United States on film, while the enlisted men's club, the base gymnasium, and hobby shop help to kill time. The hobby shop, in charge of Sgt. Le Roy Bancroft of Flint, Mich., has a fine array of woodworking tools, photographic materials with dark room, leather-making tools, modeling and painting materials.

The enlisted men also operate a telephone radio "Mars" to the United States, thanks in large part to a ham radio operator, Ted Dillenbach of Slingersland, N. Y. All day Saturday and Sunday and most of every evening, Dillenbach sits beside his radio, gets incoming calls from Greenland, relaying them by telephone to the wives, mothers, and relatives of Air Force men at Thule. He is probably the greatest friend air-men up near the North Pole have.

But when I took a good look at the figures I decided the reverse was true, that the Air Force was doing a good job. Education standards are high in the Air Force—65 per cent with high school diplomas, 50 per cent with some college work—which puts over half the 6,000 men at Thule in that category. Of the balance, 1,135 are taking University of Maryland or U. S. armed forces studies—which is pretty good.

The University of Maryland sends a rotation of 12 instructors up to the polar area to teach a variety of 20 different courses. By taking enough of these courses, a serviceman can finally graduate and receive a full-fledged diploma, either from the University or from the Armed Forces Institute.

The officers responsible for morale, in addition to the base commanders, are Col. Ralph L. Stevenson, of Ponca City, Okla., in command of Air Force Special Services; and Lt. Col. George Lee Jessup of Versailles, Ky., in charge of Special Services in Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland.

Both are dedicated men. When our plane left New York on the last leg of the journey to Washington, I was exhausted and trying to sleep. But I could hear these two officers discussing the question of more education, a new gymnasium at Goose Bay, more entertainment for the troops. They hashed over their problems until we deplaned in the early hours of dawn in Washington. That is one reason why morale is high among our watchers of the Arctic night near the North Pole.

Iley McDowell Gets Free Ad, Box Of Stationery

With a "For Rent" ad Iley McDowell, 636 North Main, was the winner today of the free box of Rytex personalized letter paper, which was a gift to the person to whom The Daily Register Classified ad taker sold ad No. 7590 for the year of 1955.

As a result Mr. McDowell received his ad free of charge and was invited to place his order free of charge for a box of Rytex personalized stationery sold regularly by The Daily Register Commercial Printing Department. The paper with her name imprinted upon it will be presented to Mrs. McDowell by her husband.

Consult today's Register classifieds if you have something to buy, or are in need of the services of a paper hanger, rug cleaner, well driller, tree trimmer, radio or television repairman. Or, maybe you have some outgrown shoe skates that would find a buyer in the Wanted column. We do hope that Mrs. Clark gets her parakeet back and that trucker his check-book, in the Lost column.

Pilot Killed When Jet Hits Auto on Busy Highway

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An Air Force pilot, killed when his jet plane shot off the field at Los Angeles International Airport and crashed into an automobile, apparently mistook a taxi strip for the regular runway, officials said today.

Air Force Capt. Dwight M. Cook died at Daniel Freeman Memorial hospital of severe burns and other injuries Monday a few hours after his T33 jet trainer shot onto busy six-lane U. S. highway 101, struck the car and then burned. The woman driving the car, Mrs. Louise La Montagne, 25, of Oakland, Calif., was reported hurt, but not seriously.

Authorities said it was "a miracle" the accident was not worse. Airport spokesmen said the pilot apparently mistook a taxi strip for a regular runway and landed on it. Still rolling at high speed, the plane shot off the field. The taxiway, south of the regular runways, takes a slight jog as it nears the tunnel entrance.

The plane broke through a wire fence, barely missed a small radar building, skipped over a couple of cars on the highway and then hit Mrs. La Montagne's auto. The pilot ejected himself from the plane shortly after it burst into flames. The plane flipped over "several times" before hitting the car, witnesses said.

Three Robbed of $10,000 Life Savings, Locked in Closet

WARREN, Minn. (AP)—Two gunmen robbed three elderly persons of their life savings, nailed them up in a 33 by 4 foot closet, and then distributed "help" messages throughout the neighborhood.

The strange robbery occurred Christmas Day and Marshal County and state authorities were still seeking the bandits and their $10,000 loot today.

The victims were Herbert Hagam, 64, his sister, Minnie, 63, and a cousin, Carl Johnson, 62. They were boarded up in the closet for 11 hours before they broke out.

Eisenhower Confers With Dulles, Twining

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower held an unscheduled conference today with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

It was the second time in two days that the President had unexpectedly called in Dulles, his chief foreign policy adviser.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen of the conference today after Dulles and Twining had entered the President's office. Hagerty said he could not tell the reason for the meeting or what was discussed.

Mr. Eisenhower met with Dulles alone for about an hour Monday to discuss "four or five subjects" in world affairs.

Asked about reports that Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles discussed in some detail the atom ban message of the Pope, Hagerty said it was discussed "but only in a general way."

The President began working today on his State of the Union message which he will deliver shortly after Congress convenes next Tuesday.

The President interrupted his long holiday weekend early Monday morning to meet at his office with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for about an hour.

Dulles told reporters afterwards that he and the President discussed "four or five matters."

The President's Christmas holiday ended in the afternoon when his son, Maj. John Eisenhower and his three grandchildren returned to Ft. Belvoir, Va., after spending an old-fashioned Christmas at the White House.

Israeli Patrol, Egyptians Exchange Fire

JERUSALEM, Israel — An Israeli patrol exchanged automatic weapons fire with Egyptians near the tense Gaza strip today. No casualties were reported in the brief exchange.

It was the third incident reported in the border area in two days. It came amid reports from authoritative Israeli sources that the Egyptians have reinforced their troops around the Gaza strip.

Maj. Dan Gov, Israeli military spokesman, said intermittent automatic fire bursts surprised inhabitants of the Jewish settlement of Ein Hasheloshah. An Israeli patrol returned the fire, he said.

Ein Hasheloshah is less than five miles from the Egyptian town of Khan Yunis inside the Gaza strip, which was attacked by Israeli armored columns last Sept. 3.

Gov said today's attack followed a Syrian "pinpricking" barrage of automatic fire on the Jewish settlement of Ein Gev on the eastern shores of Lake Tiberias (the Sea of Galilee).

He said no casualties resulted from the "intensive" Syrian attack, adding that Jewish forces did not bother to return the fire. The Israeli sources said the Egyptian reinforcements totaled about one division of troops.

The informants said that the equivalent of one division—possibly 10,000 men—are now entrenched in the area, scene of continued border skirmishes. "There was no such force there six months ago," the sources said.

Many astronomers feel sure the large dark areas on Mars represent vegetation. A canal-like network could reflect 50-miles-wide bands of plant life growing in old river valleys. However, the lines do not meander; some shoot out like arrows for 1,500 miles. Unlike true rivers, they sometimes intersect, component for making perfunct.

Former School Teacher Celebrates 104th Birthday

LIBERTY, Ind. — Miss Emaline Kelly, a former school teacher who retired in 1879 because of poor health, celebrated her 104th birthday on Christmas Day in the company of friends and relatives.

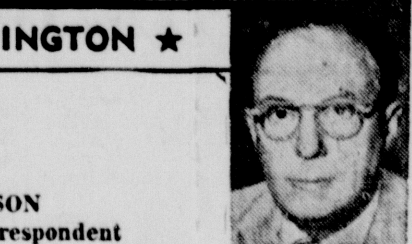

Miss Kelly opened gifts and greeting cards during the morning, then topped off the double celebration by eating a slice of birthday cake.

Santa Gets Year-Round Job Helping the Hungry

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — They've done killed Santa Claus for this Christmas, insofar as the U. S. government's foreign aid program is concerned. But they've given the old boy a new, full-time, year-round job.

This is the import of the extended, surplus food distribution program just announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in a pre-holiday surprise.

For the two previous Christmases, there were big U. S. government giveaways of food parcels abroad.

This had been President Eisenhower's own idea.

The President's purpose was to overcome the criticism that too much of the American foreign aid went to people at the top who didn't need it. What he tried to do was make a generous gesture of Christmas good will from the American people to the poor and needy in free, non-Communist countries.

THE 17 PRIVATE American relief agencies who have taken over the job of distributing U. S. surpluses in 67 countries are:

American Friends of Austrian Children, American Friends Service Committee, American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, American National Red Cross, Assemblies of God for Foreign Service, Catholic Relief Services, CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Everywhere), Church World Services, Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, International Rescue Committee, Iran Foundation, Lutheran World Relief, Mennonites Central Committee, Unitarian Service Committee, United Lithuanian Relief Foundation, United Nations Children's Fund and the Tolstoy Foundation.

FOUR MILLION FOOD PARCELS were distributed in 20 countries at a cost of 12 million dollars in "Operation Reindeer," Christmas 1953. In "Operation Pointsettia" last Christmas, six million parcels went to 40 countries at a cost of 30 million.

The decision to discontinue this program was made quietly last September while President Eisenhower was in Denver. Officials of the State and Agriculture Departments and the International Cooperation Administration decided that Christmas giving was too expensive and that it cut down on higher priority, year-round foreign aid programs.

There was no public announcement of this action. But the word got around. And private U. S. foreign relief agencies that had cooperated on distribution of Christmas parcels last year started a quiet campaign.

Through their Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, they asked Department of Agriculture to enlarge its program.

Senate Security Group Booklet Says U. S. Communists No Political Group

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee today issued a detailed 100-page handbook on the American Communist Party "to counteract current misinformation."

The booklet stressed the 1953 finding of the Subversive Activities Control Board that the Communist Party in the United States is controlled by Russia, seeking world conquest and the destruction of the American government.

The subcommittee said the Communist Party is not a political party because it demands rigid discipline, restricts its membership, seeks to control or destroy other organizations and its power comes down from the top — not up from the people.

"It is in fact a Russian-inspired, Moscow-dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our government, our ideals and our freedoms," the handbook said.

It said in today's complex civilization "one can readily conceive the potentialities for the reaction of chaos" in such a group.

Two Aims of Program

The handbook, which is being distributed on request, also set two aims for an anti-Communist program:

1. "Re-education" of Communists by persuasion to make them "sane and constructive citizens."
2. Invoking the full power of the law against "recalcitrants" to deter others from joining the party and re-educate those who do not yield to persuasion.

The booklet gave "criteria which will be useful in spotting a Communist front." It said such an organization probably will have a nucleus of party members or "reliable sympathizers" and may get publicity from the Communist press and other aid from the party, cooperate with party and other fronts and supply revenue directly or indirectly to the Communists.

The subcommittee also listed "tricks employed by Communist fronts when faced with the threat of exposure or prosecution." It said the organization may change its name, threaten its expositors or dupe prominent citizens into defending it.

"Communist fronts, when identified, will immediately and vigorously deny the charge," the booklet said.

BY ROBERT CARSE

THE STORY: In their first encounter with whale, green men of the Ohio's crew, grow frightened and cause the deaths of First Mate Eleazar Cupp and a harpooner. Capt. Jered Naish blames himself for not heeding Cupp's advice to deal roughly with the crew, to instead of that to make a barrel which'll hold oil, cooper," he said.

Titcomb backed up a stride and looked sideways for support among the other petty officers gathered by the galley. "Take him," Tatem said.

"Sure," Titcomb said. But then he began to run forward. Morrow didn't chase him; he threw the stave and it caught Titcomb behind the knees. Titcomb sprawled, lay quivering. Morrow went forward at a slow pace. He rolled the cooper over and slapped with his thick, palmed hand. "Hurt me a good bit, countryman," he said. "So here's for my right buttock and here's for the left. Mercy was in my mother's milk, else I would rattle your cranium a bit also."

"Morrow!" Jered Naish called from the quarter deck. "Come aft!"

The fat man obeyed with a false, abashed look. A smart rooster, Naish thought. "We lost a harpooner today as you well reckon, Morrow. In future, I'm taking a boat away and I'll need a man to heave the iron for me. D'you think you can do as well with whale as you have with the carpenter and the cooper?"

"Let me try the iron, sir," he said, "and I'll drive it home like a shaft of lightning."

"I'm given to believe you," Naish said. "Take your gear out of the fo'c'sle. You'll live aft."

"And sleep in a dead man's bunk, sir?" Morrow's eyes dilated.

"That's all right," Naish said, aware that all of the crew on deck listened. "Diego's where he won't mind. Neither should you."

At night and in starlight mostly, Albemarle Morrow practiced hurling a harpoon. Naish accompanied him, and when the man tired took possession of the weapon himself.

Their targets were the dolphins who had been with the ship for weeks.

Naish was fascinated by his own first capture, but more elated by Morrow's success. From the respectful glances that both Tatem and Kitchen and the two senior mates had begun to give Morrow, they must have recognized that the fat man had the skill of a real harpooner.

Naish turned his thought to the boat and the crew to man it. There still existed, he knew, the deep dislike of him by the two senior mates. On the Brazil Banks, their crews hadn't acted too badly, and at least hadn't proven themselves cowards. So the men had taken pretty much the same attitude as their commanders. They had no use for Purdy, Simpson and Post, often picked fights with them in the fo'c'sle.

That limited his choice to the lot who had been cowardly while under Mr. Cupp's command.

South Korea's Anger Cools Over Sea Incident

SEOUL (UP)—South Korea's government appeared today to have forgotten its heated charge that a Communist Christmas clash with a Korean patrol boat was an "act of war" calling for immediate retaliation.

The cabinet was in session for some time today, but an official spokesman said after the meeting the weekend "sea battle" was not discussed. Korean patrols in the area have been reinforced, but no further hostilities were reported.

President Syngman Rhee, who is vacationing in China, did not come here for the cabinet meeting. He is not expected back until after New Year's.

The five and a half hour Christmas Day clash started when the patrol boat caught 14 Communist fishing boats violating South Korea's arbitrarily proclaimed "60-mile limit." Four Korean coast guardsmen were captured by the Communists, but no casualties were reported.

A Communist claim that two Red fishermen were captured by the Koreans was dismissed as "utterly untrue" by the Office of Marine Affairs here.

Five in Family Buried as Slide Covers Home

ROSEBURG, Ore. (UP)—A 13-year-old girl, whose mother, father, brother and two sisters were buried in a slide that covered their home, said today she "lay in the wreckage of the house all night."

The girl was Margaret Neal, who with her brother, Billy, 6, was treated at Mercy hospital here for bruises and shock suffered in the tragedy. A 7-year-old brother, Arvis, escaped injury.

Killed in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Eugene Neal, aged 40 and 39, and their children, Tommy, 18, Mary, 16, and Becky, 20 months.

Douglas County Coroner L. L. Powers said four bodies were recovered from the house, located one mile east of Remote, Ore., on highway 42.

The searchers were still digging for the body of Tommy.

Neal, a logger, and his family had apparently just returned from a Christmas reunion with relatives at Riddle, Ore., when the slide engulfed their home.

The accident brought the Oregon flood toll to 11.

Immune With Him

Under American law, the privileges and immunities of an ambassador extend to the members of his own and of his official household.

Widow of Explorer Buried Beside Husband In Arlington Cemetery

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Robert E. Peary, widow of the discoverer of the North Pole, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery today beside her famous husband.

Mrs. Peary, who accompanied her explorer-husband on three trips to the Arctic, died Dec. 19 at her home in Portland, Maine. She was 92.

Rear Adm. E. B. Harp Jr., head of the Navy's Chaplain Corps, officiated at graveside services.

RKO Film Library Sold for Television

NEW YORK (UP)—The entire film library of RKO Radio Pictures, produced over a 30-year period, has been sold for $15,200,000 for the use of world television.

C & C Super Corp., soft drink and rubber manufacturer and restaurant chain operator, paid $12,200,000 cash Monday for 740 feature length films and more than 1,000 short subjects. The remaining $3,000,000 balance will be paid over the next two years.

The films include such classics as "Citizen Kane," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "The Sea Around Us," "Gunga Din" and eight musicals starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

Jet Fighter-Bombers Arrive in Italy

UDINE, Italy (UP)—A flight of 20 U. S. F84F Thunderstreak jet fighter-bombers arrived here on Monday and the new Fifth Tactical Air Force became a reality.

The new force, which will help defend the northern Italian region from possible attack, was approved only 11 days ago at the North Atlantic Treaty Council of Ministers in Paris.

U. S. and Italian officers from the NATO Southern Europe Command were at the Aviano airfield to welcome the pilots.

Two Teen-Aged Boys Shocked Fatally

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Authorities have returned an accidental death verdict in the deaths of two teen-aged Fort Wayne boys whose bodies were found in a junk yard Christmas Day.

The victims, both shocked fatally, were James Baron, 16, and Richard Rudnick, 15.

They had been missing from their homes since Friday night.

Police Capt. Mitchell Cleveland said the boys apparently touched a "hot" guide wire on a utility pole as they climbed the fence.

Your lawn will get an earlier start in spring if it is green when it freezes in the fall.

Lawyer Claims Accident in Shooting Newsboy

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A young lawyer must explain to the district attorney today how he shot a newsboy in the abdomen Christmas morning.

The lawyer, 29-year-old John Burggraf, maintained the shooting of Duncan Himes, 13, was a "horrible accident."

The boy was given a "fair to good" chance of survival after surgery at Milwaukee General Hospital. Dist. Atty. William McCauley, meanwhile, said he would question Burggraf and "all necessary parties" in the case before deciding what charges to file.

Burggraf said he heard a noise in a hallway Christmas morning and thought it might be a burglar. Armed with a .22 caliber pistol, he went to investigate. The gun went off accidentally, he said, sending a bullet through a doorway.

Bridgeport Routs Grayville, 129-21, In Tourney Play

By United Press

Illinois high school basketball tournament play rolls into high gear tonight and Wednesday, but no team is likely to top Bridgeport's 129 points Monday night in the Bridgeport tourney.

Bridgeport beat Grayville 129-21, with the score 38-3 at the quarter, and 62-9 at the half. Grayville got just four field goals.

Bridgeport used 10 men, playing the first team in the first and third quarters and the second team in the second and fourth quarters. The highest scoring Bridgeport player got 22 points.

Among the major tournaments getting underway tonight are Mount Vernon, Pontiac and Kankakee. Most other tournaments begin Wednesday night.

Bull Dogs Play Edwardsville Tonight in Holiday Tournament

Carrier Mills Meets Carbondale Tomorrow Night in First Round

The Egyptian Holiday basketball tournament gets under way at Mt. Vernon this evening with Harrisburg seeing action late tonight and Carrier Mills playing early tomorrow night.

Harrisburg's foe is tough Edwardsville, which is making a habit of winning the meet. This tilt follows one between West Frankfort and Nashville, which will open the tourney.

Carrier Mills will meet Carbondale in the second night opener, and this contest will precede the Mt. Vernon-Du Quoin tilt which will conclude the first round of play. Semi-finals will be Thursday and the finals Friday.

Edwardsville, which won last year when the tournament was held at Davenport gym, has several of last year's stars back including Jackson and Vaughn, hot-shot shooters.

Top Teams in Meet

The local game is scheduled to start around nine o'clock tonight and Carrier Mills-Carbondale is scheduled to start around seven o'clock tomorrow evening.

Top teams, apparently, in this meet are Mt. Vernon, which beat Both Centralia and Herrin in its

Navy Quarterback Welsh Leads South to 20-7 Win Over North in Shrine Tilt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A little guy who used to pitch lumps of coal as a kid in Coalville, Pa., added a new star to his crown as the nation's leading college football passer today.

Navy quarterback George Welsh was the unanimous choice as "Outstanding Player" of the annual Shrine college all-star game Monday night as he led the South to its sixth victory over the North, 20-7. The five-foot-10 future admiral's throw produced one touchdown and set up two others, one of which he scored himself.

In all, Welsh connected on 12 of 20 passes for a net of 164 yards. And his ball-handling fakery with Georgia's hard-headed fullback Bobby Garrard carrying the ball, produced telling gains in the touchdown drives.

Top Ends In Action

Welsh had the services of two of the country's finest ends, All-American Ron Beagle of Navy and Harold Burnine of Missouri, top pass catcher of 1955.

With the game only one minute and 15 seconds old, Beagle caught a 31-yard throw from Welsh for the South's first score. Garrard kicked the first of his two-out-of-three extra points.

Welsh's three passes to Beagle for 36 yards in the second period set up the second touchdown just before halftime when the 165-pound field general collected himself with a three-yard sneak.

On an 80-yard march in the third period, Welsh hit four times for 68 yards. Garrard scored the final points with a one-yard plunge after contributing a 16-yard in the drive.

North Scores Once

Southpaw Freddy Wyant pitched 38 yards to Don Hollender, 1954 All-American from Army, as the second period opened for the North's only touchdown, a play that helped Hollender win the choice as the North team's most valuable player.

Twice more the "Yankers" went to the shadow of the South's goal posts with Wyant connecting with Hollender and end Gene Kaphis of

Graham Stars As Browns Beat L. A. Rams, 38-14

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Otto Graham returned to retirement today after a valedictory appearance in which he ran and passed the Cleveland Browns to a 38-14 rout over the Los Angeles Rams for their third National Football league championship.

It was a fitting climax to a fabulous career. Graham ended 10 years of service with the Browns—the team which recorded the most successful decade in pro football history with 10 straight division pennants. Cleveland also has won seven league titles in two circuits since Coach Paul Brown took over 10 years ago.

Brown termed Graham "the greatest quarterback ever to play in that spot" following Monday's victory.

Graham Scored Twice

Graham scored two touchdowns and passed to two touchdowns—hurling 50 yards to Dante Lavelli and 35 to Ray Renfro.

The Browns based their victory on a defense that picked off seven opposition passes—one short of the 15-year-old record for interceptions in a championship game. Three of the interceptions produced touchdowns.

Lou Groza's 26-yard field goal started the scoring parade following a drive from the Browns' 24 that featured a 32-yard pass from Graham to Lavelli.

Two interceptions, both off Norm Van Brocklin, added two touchdowns in the second period. Halfback Don Paul ran 65 yards for the first one and Lavelli, following halfback Tom James' interception, took a Graham pass to paydirt in play that covered 50 yards.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

I Predict: No Losers in Argument of the Bowl Games

NEW YORK (NEA)—If you suspect that the fight game's dead, you should drop into our office during the season of good cheer and headaches.

In our office, smoke signals are going up fanned by the bellows behind a long Havana. Sports Editor Harry Grayson, conductor of this column habitually, is making so much like a semaphore he can't get two pinkies down to the typewriter. Sports Cartoonist Murray Olderman ducks behind his pen-point.

The fourth annual Battle of the Bowls is on. Barring average to date: Grayson 316; Olderman 684. This is what was picked up on the wiretap (censored):

ROSE BOWL

GRAYSON—You've got to stick with the champion until he's beaten and the Big Ten has won eight of nine since the Pacific Coast stuck its red neck with that pact. Michigan State came from behind to beat UCLA in the same setting two years ago. This time the Spartans will break in front and stay there like Nashua in the match race with Swaps. Michigan State 21, UCLA 14.

OLDERMAN—You got to have the ball to win, old boy, and the way I figure it, the big Bruins will grind the Spartans down to the size of library assistants in a ball control pattern set by Bulling Bob Davenport and Slippery Sam Brown. UCLA 16, Michigan State 14.

ORANGE BOWL

GRAYSON—Maryland got a load of Oklahoma two years ago, but the Terrapins haven't seen anything yet. After you name Ed Verbeeb and Frank Tamburello, Terp backs have to be identified. The Sooners have millions of 'em and linemen to match. Oklahoma 14, Maryland 7.

OLDERMAN—Those Okies have been striking oil so long in their own backyard, where the going's soft, they won't know what to do when they come up against the hard rock Maryland line, anchored by Bob Pellegri and Mike Sandusky. They'll cap the gusher. Maryland 14, Oklahoma 0.

SUGAR BOWL

GRAYSON—Pittsburgh may be running out of the split T, but Joann Michelosen has managed to put a lot of Jock Sutherland's rock-'em-and-sock-'em into his version of it. The Panthers stirred up plenty of trouble for Oklahoma. The same type of game should take care of Georgia Tech, and then some. Pittsburgh 21, Georgia Tech 13.

OLDERMAN—Seems you haven't heard the Engineers contrive to win Bowl games, even if they have to turn a Riegels in the wrong direction. George Volkert, little Jimmy Thompson and Stan Flowers will run up slide rule yardage against bulky Pitt. Georgia Tech 27, Pitt 14.

COTTON BOWL

GRAYSON—Knocked off by Navy in the Sugar Bowl a year ago, the Mississippi Rebels are so mad that they're eating guys like the Texas Christian Frogs, who could lack the Rebs' all-around ballance. Mississippi 10, Texas Christian 6.

OLDERMAN—Jimmy Swink could be the star of the day, and if all of Texas couldn't manage to stop the Horned Frog rambler, what chance have those poor little country cousins from Mississippi? TCU 21, Mississippi 19.

GATOR BOWL

GRAYSON—Tom Thumb would not have been any more mismatched had he tackled a giant with an axe then Vanderbilt is in taking a run at Auburn, one of the nation's great college teams. Auburn 20, Vanderbilt 7.

OLDERMAN—The Commodores, navigating to the top under Art Guepe, aren't about to be capsize by any Plainsmen, not as long as they have top decks hands like Charley Horton. Vandy 11, Auburn 10.

EAST-WEST

GRAYSON—The East may have Hopalong Cassidy, but wider men than he have been roped in the West, where there is a lot of territory to choose from. Stanford beat Ohio State and the way Southern California closed against Notre Dame could be the tipoff. West 19, East 11.

OLDERMAN—Hopalong Cassidy in the wild and woolly West—what more natural setting could you ask
